TO PRESENT FARCE — "GOLDEN FLEECE" AT BINGHAM THEATRE FEB. 17

A frothy light-hearted farce called "Golden Fleece" has been chosen as the next attraction at Gould Academy. Written by Lorenzo Semple, Jr., the comedy set New York audiences rocking and rolling with mirth in the fall of 1959, and it will be presented at the Bingham Theatre on February 17.

The play's plot is concerned with a scheme of three Naval men—two officers and a math-wizard of a civil employee—to break the bank not at Monte Carlo but at a similar roulette-wheel casino in Venice, by using the electronic computer on their ship in the harbor to devise an infallible system.

The action takes place in a gilded rococo Venetian hotel room which the three conspirators set up as a communications center between the casino and their miraculous calculating machine, by means of signalling to and from the ship with a blinker light. Their mysterious signals, naturally, draw the attention of security officers who think a spy system is at work, and this brings down upon them not only the gruff, unsympathetic admiral but also the admiral's pretty daughter, who adds a romantic complication to the get-rich-quick scheme.

Peter Howard (Lt. Howard) will be seen as the leader of the bank-breaking trio. Marjorie Howard (Julie) will portray the girl he falls in love with. In other roles Charles Jacobs (Elbridge) will be the civilian double-dome, Bill Eames (Ensign Gilliam) a square fresh from the Naval Academy, Mike Chretien (Admiral Fitch) the outraged admiral, Ginevra Bean (Ann Knutsen) the civilian's girl friend, Merton Brown (Signalman Taylor) the fleet's dumbest signalman—a role that particularly charmed New York audiences.

These and other comedians are being directed by Mr. Vogt, and the super-luxurious hotel room where the mad mathematical-signalling-financial-romantic operations are carried on, has been designed by Mr. Owen.

Ronald E. Baker, formerly of Bethel, was installed as Master of Day Spring Lodge, A. F. & A. M., Monday, Jan. 10th at the Masonic Hall in West Newfield. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Alphonse J. Baker, Paradise Street.

The second dinner meeting of the Oxford County Alumni Association was held Wednesday evening with an attendance of 70 alumni and friends at the Sudbury Inn. Parents of two U. of M. football players and several area coaches were guests. Walter H. Abbott, defensive coach of the U. of M. football team was the speaker of the evening. A native of Rumford, he is a 1935 graduate of the U. of M. He reviewed the highlights of the 1965 season with films and comments.

Probably the largest event to occur during this period were the two murder indictments returned by Oxford County Grand Jury. Although one of these were first given to the Maine Police Department, this department was called in on the investigation in both cases probable cause was found for murder in the Murder of Count and warrants issued. Therefore both cases had to be investigated by murder trials. A great deal of things were up and running in the district of justice. The district of justice was up and running in the district of justice. The district of justice was up and running in the district of justice.

COMMENTS FROM THE TOWN MANAGER'S OFFICE

I am nearly done making up the budget requests for this year. There are increased requests in some accounts and I believe the extra money is needed to properly finance the required services. It would be very difficult to operate the town for the same amount of money as was required ten years ago. There are very few things that can be bought for the same price that they were ten years ago. The only way to operate on a budget of 1956 would be to reduce some of the services supplied by the town.

There is a trend in Bethel, that is the same in most other towns, that looks toward added services rather than decreased services. The added services requested, at times exceeds the added services rendered. At the same time, there is a feeling that services that were rendered adequately 20 years ago should be improved now.

As an example, years ago people expected plowed roads. Today people expect plowed roads and black roads when possible. With the equipment available today, it is easier to keep the roads open. There is a much larger price tag on equipment used today than on equipment used in the past. There is also an increase in the cost of labor and materials. I'm not implying that any of the increased services are not needed nor am I implying that equipment and material costs are over-priced. I am just trying to justify the fact that some account requests will be increased this year.

Anyone wishing to have an article in the warrant for town meeting should get it to the town office within the next week. I hear many remarks during the summer and fall about the nice things the town could be doing. The only way these things can be financed is by raising the money at town meeting.

BETHEL AUXILIARY UNIT BUYS HOSPITAL ITEMS

Members of the Bethel Unit of the Rumford Community Hospital held their annual meeting last week. Mrs. Dale Thurston, chairman of the buying committee, with Mrs. Lincoln Elske and Mrs. Norris Brown, announced the purchase of two infant resuscitators, 100 magnetic sign holders for all patient beds, and an adult rocking chair for the pediatric ward. Approximately $700 was used to purchase this equipment.

The infant resuscitators are to be used in the nursery and delivery area of the hospital. The sign holders accommodate a registry card and up to three permanent nursing instruction cards.

It has been the goal of the Bethel Auxiliary to direct their assistance to the maternity department of the hospital. Also this year by special request, they also contributed to other sections of the hospital.

The Bethel Auxiliary earns funds for the hospital to make available extra equipment to afford patients at the Rumford Community Hospital personal care.

F. F. Lousier, administrator, expressed the Hospital's gratitude to the Bethel group for their contributions and support.

Newly elected officers of Bethel are: President Mrs. Kim Hall Ames, Vice-President, Mrs. Dana Brown, Treasurer, Mrs. Leslie Smith and Secretary, Mrs. Leslie Brown. Mrs. Albert Buck is chairman for the volunteer staff for the office shop duty.

Directors Approve Terms of Grant

Approval of the conditions of a commitment by which SAD 44 would receive a grant not exceeding $400,000 from the Bet-terment Fund established by the late William Bingham II, was voted at a meeting of the district's directors in Newry Monday evening.

Receipt of the grant imposes conditions on the district concerning the project. The directors of SAD 44 and the residents of the towns involved must approve a curriculum and a construction program carrying out the recommendations of Engelhardt, Engelhardt, and Leggett.

The second condition is the new junior-senior high school be adequate for the Engelhardt program and be planned and constructed so as to require minimum maintenance and operating expense in the foreseeable future.

The building committee was asked to present plans showing what can be bought for not over

$2.1 million, not including interest and finance charges.

The finance committee presented a hypothetical set of figures on how the district might establish a uniform annual payment on the principal, utilizing installments from the grant to meet interest charges.

Plans are contingent on the passage of a $10 million bond by the current special session of the legislature, and a subsequent state wide referendum.

As a result it was voted not to continue the architect's work beyond preliminary plans until after the district referendum.

To allow for paying the architect for preliminary plans, and for other expenses, to any bond issue the proposed district budget was amended to include an addition to the capital outlay item bringing it to $33,000.

February 18 was approved as the date for the district budget meeting.
